Forecast For Scotland
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 0400 on Friday 26 Nov 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Rain and snow spreading south later. Cold and increasingly windy.

Today:
Sunny spells and blustery showers during morning. Persistent rain and snow extending southwards across Scotland during the afternoon. Cold and windy, gales developing in the north and west, perhaps storm force along northeastern coasts later.

Tonight:
Rain and snow spreading south this evening. Then drier, snow showers in the north. Widespread gales, perhaps storm force along the east coast, easing down in the early hours.

Saturday:
Cold, bright and windy with wintry showers in the north, and far southeast, mainly dry elsewhere. Strong to gale northerly winds moderating by evening.

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Mainly dry, bright and cold and Sunday, still the odd shower in the north. Mainly dry on Monday, perhaps some rain in north later. Rain at times on Tuesday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.